Tips for treating navel infection in animals

Hello, farmer brothers and sisters, In collaboration with Reliance Foundation and Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Seoni, we advise you that Betadine (Povidone-Iodine) is a good antiseptic for navel ulcers or infections in animals, which prevents infection by drying the wounds, but it should be used only under the guidance of a veterinarian, especially by diluting it or applying it in the prescribed quantity, because excessive quantity can burn the skin, and it should not be used on animals that eat, instead Betadine solution is used to clean and heal the wound, which kills germs, thank you.
